IN MY FIRST FULL YEAR AT VVMF, I found myself answering the same question over and over - “Why Does Vietnam Still Matter?” The answer is simple. Vietnam still matters because the impact of the Vietnam War and era is still felt every day in American society. From family and friend impacts, to social and political impacts, to media and military impacts – many issues point back to Vietnam.

Our nation came to grips with the poor treatment of our Vietnam veterans beginning with the dedication of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in 1982. Since that time, we have learned the lesson that we should support our troops, regardless of our feelings about any particular war. This is the one overarching lesson of the Vietnam War that VVMF and its supporters want to make sure future generations always remember.

It’s because of your generous support, we are able to continue honoring the service of all, preserving the memory of those who died during the war and since returning home, and educating all generations about the lasting impact of the war. HONOR. PRESERVE. EDUCATE. That is the focus of VVMF’s work.

We reached many milestones with your help in the last year. We launched the virtual collection of Items Left at The Wall – allowing the public to have more access than ever to the collection. We added another 4,000 photos to our Wall of Faces collection. In the campaign to build the Education Center at The Wall, we received the two final approvals needed on the building design — a huge milestone that took more than 10 years and millions of dollars.

In March, we commemorated the 50th anniversary of ground troops landing in Vietnam and in April we spent a week at the U.S.S. Midway with The Wall That Heals during the 40th anniversary of the humanitarian evacuation of Saigon. We celebrated the release of the “Medal of Honor: Vietnam War” postage stamps in May at our Memorial Day Observance at The Wall.

All of that was made possible because of you. I hope you’ll take a look at the incredible work that VVMF was able to do in 2015 because of your support. We expanded our reach across the country and online and impacted more veterans and their families than ever. On a personal note, I’d like to thank you for your support and partnership in my first year at VVMF.

We expect great things to come in 2016 and beyond. It’s because of you that we can continue to honor, preserve and educate every day.

JIM KNOTTS, PRESIDENT and CEO of VVMF
PRESERVE IS A CRUCIAL PART of the mission of VVMF. It is our privilege to care for the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the more than 58,000 names inscribed on it and we take that responsibility seriously. Each spring, VVMF receives names from the Department of Defense that they’ve determined should be added to the Memorial. In 2015, we added seven names to The Wall. We also changed the status of five others.

Four times a year, VVMF ensures that the Three Servicemen Statue and In Memory plaque look their best by having an Object Conservator attend to them. The care of the lawn around the Memorial and the printing of new directories are also part of VVMF’s care and preservation efforts for the site.

Through the support of our generous donors, VVMF can facilitate and fund these changes to the Memorial and provide for the preservation of the Memorial site for generations to come.
Because of YOU

Honor is central to the VVMF mission. We honor the service and sacrifice of Vietnam veterans every day of the year. On the days that our nation sets aside to honor service and sacrifice – Memorial Day and Veterans Day – VVMF hosts thousands of attendees at our annual Observances at The Wall. Special celebrations in the past year included the 30th anniversary of the dedication of the Three Servicemen Statue and the debut of the Medal of Honor: Vietnam War postage stamps.

The In Memory program continues to grow. In 2015, 165 service members whose lives were cut short as a result of their service in Vietnam were inducted into the In Memory Honor Roll.

The annual Father’s Day ceremony included a commemoration of the 25th anniversary of Sons and Daughters in Touch (SDIT), an organization representing the now-grown children of service members lost in Vietnam and honored on The Wall.

All of these ceremonies are made possible through the support of our generous donors.

CEREMONIES
BECAUSE of YOU

THE WALL THAT HEALS is how VVMF can HONOR, PRESERVE and EDUCATE all across the country. The traveling exhibit visited 34 communities in 2015 spreading The Wall’s healing legacy to hundreds of thousands of veterans and their families who may not be able to travel to Washington. The accompanying mobile Education Center gives communities a teaching moment to educate about the lasting impact of the Vietnam War and era.

A new partnership with the Truckload Carriers Association (TCA) provided trucking companies and drivers to “Haul The Wall” from community to community. A special thanks to USAA as the presenting sponsor for the 2015 tour with additional sponsorship provided by GEICO, FedEx, and DAV Charitable Trust.

The Wall That Heals runs on support from our generous corporate sponsors and individual donors.
VVMF FEELS IT IS CRITICAL to EDUCATE current and future generations on the lasting impact of the Vietnam War and era.

VVMF’s second annual student video contest focused on the question: What does honor in times of war look like? Students were challenged to share their ideas about examples of honor in a video that was five minutes or less in length. Sean Quinn, an 11th grader from Albany, N.Y., was named the winner and was a special guest at the Memorial Day Observance at The Wall.

New high school-level curriculum, Echoes from The Wall, was introduced in 2015. Available free-of-charge and complete with background readings, in-class and extension activities and lecture presentations, the materials focus on four areas of impact: social, military, media and politics.

For younger students, VVMF held the first-ever Girl Scout Day at The Wall in 2015 and welcomed more than 200 Junior and Brownie Girl Scouts to The Wall. Veterans led the Scouts in activities to earn badges.

VVMF can continue these educational efforts because of generous supporters across the country.
THE NEXT STEP IN VVMF’S MISSION TO EDUCATE is the Education Center at The Wall. Currently in the fundraising stages, many exciting developments happened in the last year.

The final approval from the National Capital Planning Commission (NCPC) came after a decade of hearings and design modifications. VVMF also received final approval from the Commission of Fine Arts, a DC-based committee that had to approve the project.

Tremendous progress was made in the campaign to find a photo of every service member on The Wall. Minnesota and Wisconsin joined Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota and New Mexico as the only states to find a photo for every one of their fallen on The Wall. By September of 2015, photos of 42,573 service members inscribed on The Wall had been found. These photos, currently displayed online in VVMF’s Wall of Faces, will be displayed in the future at the Education Center at The Wall.

A significant step forward was the launch of the virtual collection of Items left at the Wall. In August 2015, VVMF launched online the largest collection of items left at The Wall ever made available to the public. The curation of those items is a huge step towards the 4,000 – 6,000 items that will be on public display once the Education Center is funded and constructed.

Just like The Wall, the Education Center can only be built from private funds from VVMF’s generous supporters.
